PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15.—With its exception of Yale, there is no Eastern college where football has a stronger following than at the University of Pennsylvania, and already the enthusiasm there is making plans for next season. They appear to take a very high view of the game. For in their minds it is a value of a game with Yale, Michigan, and possibly other Eastern colleges. It has been to them for some time the most important of the college sports. The ability to win a game of football is considered a badge of honor. The Yale and Harvard games are considered the most important of the season. The Yale and Harvard games are considered the most important of the season.
